400 Mass. Oaktree Shilling. Poor.
401 1783. Annapolis Sixpence. In comparing this piece with another, I observed slight differences on the reverse, and by referring to Crosby, find that he mentions two reverses. This is undoubtedly the rare reverse. The dot at end of leaves in angle almost under the 8, in all others that I have seen it is almost under the 7. The rays on the ends of the arms diverge differently also. The rev. is sharp and regularly struck so that these differences can easily be noticed. One of the few fine pieces of this rare coin.
402 1659. Lord Baltimore Sixpence. Bust left, with the usual inscription. All parts of obv. and rev. well struck. A trifle finer than the one in the Bushnell sale, that sold for $36. Very fine. Extremely rare.
